

NEWFOUNDLAND & LABRADOR AND GLOBUS

NEWFOUNDLAND & LABRADOR	Experience UNESCO World Heritage sites like Gros Morne National Park – twenty times older than the Rockies - and L’Anse aux Meadows National Historic Site – North America’s only authenticated Viking settlement. Or journey to Labrador to Red Bay National Historic Site, which is home to a 16th Century whaling station. In Newfoundland and Labrador you can get up close to the world’s largest population of Humpback Whales. It is also home to some of the world’s largest and most accessible seabird colonies in North America; more than 35 million seabirds gather here every year. Get a great ocean view from 29,000 kilometres of coastline - perfect for coastal drives. And visit Cape Spear National Historic Site – the most Easterly point in North America, where you can see the sun rise before anyone else on the continent! Or stroll the picturesque fishing villages and hear their stories and song. Music is a huge part of Newfoundland and Labrador’s culture – during your Globus tour guests will be sure to experience some great music. And it is fitting that St. John’s Newfoundland is hosting the 2010 JUNO Week from April 12- 18 with “Ruckus On The Edge” – a week-long celebration of music.
Location	Newfoundland is a large island lying off the east coast of North America between latitudes 46½°N and 52°N. Its capital is St. John's, which is in the same latitude of Quebec, Duluth, Seattle and Paris. It is Canada's most easterly province, consisting of the island of Newfoundland and the mainland portion of Labrador. Newfoundland has a triangular shape, stretching 600km across, and covering 100,000 sq km. It can be described as the size of Pennsylvania, and larger than Ireland. It lies on the continental shelf of North America, as it is separated from Labrador by only 20km, and by Cape Breton by 120km Here are some interesting facts; St. John’s is as close to Dublin in Ireland as it is to Toronto. Cape Spear is the most easterly point in North America; It’s the world’s 11th largest island and has 17,000 km of coastline: fjords, inlets, coves, guts, bays and tickles
Geography	Total area: 400,000 sq km; Newfoundland: 100,000; Labrador: 300,000 The province has more than three times the total area of the Maritime Provinces (Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island) and is the size of Japan. In fact it’s so large that you need lots of time: the average visit is 12 days
Name	While the name "Newfoundland" is derived from English as "New Found Land", Labrador is named after Portuguese explorer João Fernandes Lavrador.

Population	Population: 516,000; St. John's: 100,000 (metro 180k) People from Newfoundland are called " Newfoundlanders " while people from Labrador are called " Labradorians ".
Language	Newfoundland has its own dialects of the English, French, and Irish Gaelic languages. The English dialect in Labrador shares much with Newfoundland. Furthermore, Labrador has its own dialects of Innu-aimun and Inuktitut. There's some to-and-fro among travelers about how to accent Newfoundland. Correctly done, there's a little bit of emphasis on the final syllable, but it's subtle. Here's a trick. Recite this bit of doggerel: "You just won't understand, 'Til you've been to Newfoundland." Now drop everything but the last word.
Currency	Canadian Dollar
Tipping	15% is the norm
Government	The Provincial government is currently headed up by Premier Danny Williams of the Conservatives
Time zone	The Province has its own time zone 1.5 hours ahead of EST
Health	If you are a resident of Canada, you should carry your MCP card just in case you need medication attention. If you are taking medicine prescribed by your doctor, it is a good idea to make a list of what you are taking in case of emergency, and bring along a copy of your prescription in the event that you need to have it renewed by a doctor in Newfoundland and Labrador.
Safety	St. John's has continuously had one of the lowest crime rates of any city in Canada...and the rest of the Province is even safer!

CLIMATE
General climate	The weather in Newfoundland might charitably be called "mercurial." You might very well experience all four seasons during a 1-week trip to the island - from relatively warm and sunny days (the average high temperature in summer is about 21 °C) to the downright frigid (it often dips into the range of 4 °C or lower on summer evenings). St John's like to say that their city has one of the mildest winters in Canada (third mildest city next to Victoria and Vancouver).
Today's weather	2 degrees Centigrade and scattered flurries (6 March 2010)
Best time to visit	Spring summer and fall are all idyllic times to see Newfoundland and Labrador, and even winter has its own special magic with lots of snow on the ground. Northern Lights: Catch the greatest natural light show on earth, playing to Labrador audiences more than 240 nights a year.

GETTING THERE	St. John's International Airport is located 5.6 km northwest of the city and airlines include Air Canada, Air Canada Jazz, Air Labrador, Air

	Saint-Pierre, Air Transat, CanJet, Continental Airlines, Porter Airline, Skyservice, Sunwing Airlines and Westjet. There is also a convenient airport at Deer Lake/Corner Brook on the west coast of Newfoundland.
Flying time	It is only 2 hours from Montreal and 3 hours from Toronto to St. John's, making Newfoundland and Labrador so much quicker to travel to than other 'exotic' destinations.
Cities	St John's St. John's is the provincial capital of Newfoundland and Labrador, located on the eastern tip of the Avalon Peninsula on the island of Newfoundland. It is Canada's oldest city and arguably the oldest city in North America. St. John's is the most populous Census Metropolitan Area (CMA) in the Province; it is the second largest CMA in the Atlantic Provinces after Halifax, and 20th largest metropolitan area in Canada with a population of a little over 180,000. The city enjoys a long and vibrant history as the oldest English-founded city in North America. The harbour was a frequent haven for European fisherman throughout the early 1500s, and was officially established as a community when Sir Humphrey Gilbert declared Newfoundland an English colony in 1583. While the origin of the name St. John's is not definitively known, its first usage appears in a Portuguese map as "Rio de San Johem" by 16th century Portuguese cartographer Pedro Reinel. The popular origin of the name, however, is said to have originated from the Italian discoverer Giovanni Caboto, who landed in Bonavista on 24 June, 1497. With a long and prosperous history in the fishery industry, the last half of the 20th century has seen St. John's transformed into a modern export and service centre. More recently, its proximity to recently discovered oil fields has led to an economic boom that has spurred population growth and commercial development.
Distances	It takes about 8 or 9 hours to drive south-north from Port aux Basques (where the ferry from Nova Scotia docks) to the tip at St. Anthony's and it's a 15 hour non stop drive west-east from Port aux Basques to St. John's. Amazingly, St. John's is as close to Dublin Ireland as it is to Toronto
Ferries	Marine Atlantic (tel. 800/341-7981; www.marine-atlantic.ca) operates a year-round ferry service from North Sydney, Nova Scotia to Port aux Basques, with as many as three sailings each way daily during the peak summer season. The crossing is about 5 hours; one-way fares are $28.75 adults, plus $81.50 for an automobile. (2010 rates) A seasonal ferry (summers only) also connects North Sydney with Argentia on the southwest tip of the Avalon Peninsula. This crossing is

	offered three times weekly in summer and takes 14 to 15 hours. The one-way fare is $80.50 adults, $167.25 for cars. On both ferries, children 5 to 12 years old ride for half-price (free for children under 5). Reserved reclining seats, sleeping berths, and private cabins are available. (2010 rates) A much shorter ride on the M/V Apollo connects Blanc-Sablon, Labrador with St. Barbe, Newfoundland. The ride takes 20 minutes. Call tel. 866/535-2567 for more information.
Trains	Newfoundland doesn't have rail service any more, but the track has been converted to a multi-use trail for hiking and biking.
Car Rental	To explore the countryside, you'll need a car. Major rental companies with fleets in Newfoundland include Avis (tel. 800/230-4898), Budget (tel. 800/472-3325), Thrifty (tel. 800/367-2277), National (tel. 800/227-7368), Enterprise (tel. 800/261-7331), and Rent-A-Wreck (tel. 800/535-1391).
Buses	Several bus lines connect the major ports and cities. DRL Coachlines (tel. 709/738-8088) has one bus daily from Port aux Basques to St. John's.

ACCOMMODATION TYPES	Accommodation of all kinds is available in the province from B&B's to 5 star resorts. For something different, try Quirpon (pronounced Kar-Poon) Lighthouse Inn, which offers independent and group itineraries featuring whales, icebergs, and culture. This former lighthouse set on an island in northern Newfoundland is absolutely unique, overlooking Iceberg Alley where the bergs drift by the area with Newfoundlands longest iceberg season. Access is by boat or helicopter, the furniture and quilts are handmade, and the food is excellent. For more information contact Ed English at 709-634-2285.

TARGET GROUPS
Kids	The Fluvarium, St. John's: This low, octagonal structure at the edge of Long Pond (near Memorial University, a few miles west of downtown) actually descends three stories into the earth. The second level features exhibits on river ecology, including life in the riffles (that's where trout spawn) and in shallow pools, which are rich with nutrients. On the lowest level you'll find yourself looking up into a deep pool that's located alongside the building. Watch for brown trout swimming lazily by...the kids will love this attraction! Families find that Newfoundland and Labrador has a lot of different things that kids like to see and do. These things could be insects, Vikings, small marine critters, fish - even sitting in a pilot's seat.

Chris Robinson Associates Inc does not warrant the quality, accuracy or completeness of any claims, statements or information contained within this document. This document was created at the time of broadcast and may not be current.

	The Newfoundland Insectarium in Reidville on Route 430 (just outside Deer Lake) features live and preserved insects, and butterflies, so this could be both a Yuck, gross place or just Cool. If it's a rainy day in the West, why not head for the pool? It's a great break and a refresher for the whole family, and a sure favourite is the pool at Rocky Harbour In Gros Morne National Park. The parents can soak in the huge hot tub while the kids swim. Vikings have a scary reputation, but they were also great explorers, sailors and adventurers. Learn about them, and stand where they founded the first European settlement in North America 1,000 years ago at L'Anse aux Meadows National Historic Site. After that, hop over to Norstead, an imaginary 11th-century Viking port of trade 2 km away. Both are on Route 436 near the northern tip of the Island of Newfoundland. The North Atlantic Aviation Museum in Gander on Route 1 is where you'll find a DC3. Climb in and grab the controls of this classic airplane. Let the kids wait their turn! From the skies, you can move back in time to the 19th century at the Green Family Forge in Trinity on Route 239. This place has all the tools the local blacksmith used to make everything from horseshoes to boat hooks. It seems like all it needs to get going is a fire and someone to work the bellows. And what family vacation would be complete without a trip to the zoo? In this case, it's Salmonier Nature Park on Route 90 where animals and birds usually found only in the wilderness are housed in remarkably natural surroundings. Moose, caribou, beaver, hares - even bats - are found here.
Teens	Walk two kilometres down the road from the L'Anse aux Meadows National Historic Site and discover Norstead, a replica of a Viking port of trade. Here you can have your first axe-throwing lesson and challenge yourself in a Norse traditional game. Set your eyes on the Snorri, a replica of a Viking ship that retraced Erickson's course from Greenland to the Meadows. Take a pottery lesson or spin yarn the way the Vikings once did on the grounds of L'Anse aux Meadows.
Romance	The combination of magnificent scenery, romantic inns and B&B's, wide open spaces and the freshest air on the planet is a powerful aphrodisiac!
Genealogy	Anyone can learn about family history in Newfoundland and Labrador with the help of the Family History Society of Newfoundland and Labrador, a volunteer non-profit organization founded in 1984 and incorporated in 1987. Its Genealogical Resource Centre provides

	access to historical databases and acts as an information service for genealogical researchers. It also provides information on archives and heritage organizations across the province. Membership is open to anyone researching their Newfoundland ancestry, and members receive a quarterly journal called The Newfoundland Ancestor. Indexing projects include parish registers, cemetery transcriptions, census records and family histories compiled and maintained by volunteers all over North America. Collections available include genealogical reference books, family histories, cemetery transcripts, genealogical periodicals, directories and censuses.
Seniors	Excellent escorted tours are available, e.g. from Globus, that allow Seniors to see the sights without having to rough it or drive long distances themselves.

UNIQUES	Iceberg spotting in spring and early summer. Visit a little bit of France just 20 km from Fortune, Newfoundland – St Pierre and Miquelon are just a short boat ride away.
Surprising	Visit the Root Cellar Capital of the World! With over 130 root cellars - small storage spaces skillfully built into the hillsides - Elliston has an unusual heritage. Important to many in rural Newfoundland, the root cellars kept vegetables cool, yet frost free and edible during the long winter months. Elliston is also a great place to observe a variety of seabirds, including the colourful puffin, which can be viewed at close range in its natural habitat. The puffin spends most of the year at sea, coming to shore to nest and raise its young. Some are terrific divers. Once called Bird Island Cove, Elliston is surrounded by numerous tiny islands, one of the best puffin colonies in Newfoundland.
History	Newfoundland has a number of historical firsts. The oldest known settlement anywhere in The Americas built by Europeans is located at L'Anse aux Meadows, Newfoundland. It was founded circa 1000 A.D. by Leif Ericson's Vikings. Remnants and artifacts of the occupation can still be seen at L'Anse aux Meadows, now a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The island was inhabited by the Beothuks and later the Mi'kmaq. John Cabot became the first European since the Vikings to discover Newfoundland, landing at Bonavista on June 24, 1497. On August 5, 1583, Sir Humphrey Gilbert formally claimed Newfoundland as England's first overseas colony under Royal Prerogative of Queen Elizabeth I. From 1610 to 1728, Proprietary Governors were appointed to establish colonial settlements on the island. John Guy was governor of the first settlement at Cuper's Cove. Other settlements were Bristol's Hope, Renew's, South Falkland and Avalon which became a province in 1623.

	The first governor given jurisdiction over all of Newfoundland was Sir David Kirke in 1638. The island of Newfoundland was nearly conquered by New France explorer Pierre Le Moyne d'Iberville in the 1690s. Newfoundland received a colonial assembly in 1832, which was and still is referred to as the House of Assembly, after a fight led by reformers William Carson, Patrick Morris and John Kent. The new government was unstable and divided along sectarian lines between the Catholic and Protestant populations of the colony. In 1842, the elected House of Assembly was amalgamated with the appointed Legislative Council. This was changed back in 1848 to two separate chambers. After this, a movement for responsible government began. In 1934, the Dominion gave up its self-governing status as the Commission of Government took its place. Following World War II, the Commission held elections for the Newfoundland National Convention which debated the dominion's future in 1946 and 1947. Two referenda resulted in which Newfoundlanders decided to end the commission, and join the Canadian Confederation in 1949. There's a big celebration this year (2010) as the community of Cupids celebrate their 400th anniversary – www.cupids400.com for details of their celebrations this coming summer.

CULTURE	"Ode to Newfoundland" by Sir Cavendish Boyle When sun-rays crown thy pine-clad hills And summer spreads her hand, When silvern voices tune thy rills, We love thee, smiling land. When spreads thy cloak of shimmering white, At winter's stern command, Through shortened day and starlit night, We love thee, frozen land. When blinding storm gusts fret thy shore And wild waves lash thy strand, Through spindrift swirl and tempest roar, We love thee, wind-swept land, As loved our fathers, so we love, Where once they stood we stand, Their prayer we raise to Heaven above, God guard thee, Newfoundland
Arts	Enjoy the unique island culture, hospitality, songs and music.

Films	Both the feature film The Shipping News and the TV mini-series Random Passage were filmed in the Trinity Bight area on Newfoundland's Bonavista Peninsula. In them, you’ll find collections, exhibits and programs that tell stories and interpret our natural world through art, artifacts, archaeology, architecture and archival records. The Rooms site itself is of deep historical significance. Almost 250 years before The Rooms rose on the landscape, this was the site of Fort Townshend. The great star-shaped citadel, one of the largest British fortifications in North America at the time, was built to defend Britain’s fishing interests. With the withdrawal of the imperial garrison in 1870, the site became the home of the Royal Newfoundland Constabulary. Connections, the Museum’s permanent exhibit, introduces visitors to Newfoundland and Labrador, its natural life and the peoples who lived here from 9,000 years ago to 1730. Fun, interactive exhibit components engage children in an exploration of the world around them. Other temporary exhibits focus on the cultural diversity of contemporary Newfoundland and Labrador. The Johnson Geo Centre is housed in one of the most distinctive buildings in the province, on a beautiful 7 hectare property next to Signal Hill National Historic Site, on world-famous Signal Hill. The large, glass-encased entry is the only part of the building above ground. Most of the over 3,100 m2 of floor space are underground — right inside of the solid rock walls. At the Johnson Geo Centre, you will be intrigued by the stories behind the radical changes that take place in our climate; and the constant, all-powerful influences of the Sun and our Earth’s gravity. And you will also marvel as you look at what lies far beyond our planet, into the far reaches of outer space, where science tells us how our Earth’s future is unfolding. Even the heating system is unique. The Geo Centre is heated by the Earth itself, through holes drilled over 150 metres into the rock, using heat pumps to circulate fluids that heat or cool the building. Website: http://www.geocentre.ca

Cupids400

It was called Cupers Cove. The first planned settlement in this New Founde Land. It was a rugged vista, wild and ferocious in its beauty, cruel and unforgiving to those who took it for granted. And yet John Guy and his brave pioneers thrived, prospered, explored and conquered. Through tenacity and daring, and no small measure of sweat and toil, they wove the fabric of a culture that has resonated across the ebb and flow of centuries. Over the next 400 years, English settlement in Newfoundland and Labrador and the rest of British North America grew to become what is now English Canada. But it all started in 1610 with John Guy's fateful choice of Cupids as his new home. There are events planned to celebrate this 400th anniversary throughout the year and you see what is going on and when at their website:

www.cupids400.com

St John's Time, July 29 to August 8, 2010, celebrates four unique Festivals.

GEORGE STREET FESTIVAL www.georgestreetfestival.com
July 29 – August 3, 2010

George Street, in downtown St. John's, is the focal point of the City's nightlife. The pubs and taverns lining this historic cobblestone street offer everything from traditional Newfoundland music to the latest rock music. The festival features five nights of live outdoor entertainment featuring some of Newfoundland's top acts.

ROYAL ST. JOHN'S REGATTA www.stjohnsregatta.org
August 4, 2009 (weather permitting)

What probably began as a few fishermen competing to see who could row his dory the fastest has grown into the annual Royal St. John's Regatta, North America's oldest continuing sporting event. The Regatta began officially in 1825 and has run the first Wednesday in August every since.

For over 190 years the Royal St. John's Regatta has been held at Quidi Vidi Lake in the heart of the east end of St. John's, Newfoundland. The Holiday is held on the First Wednesday in August - Weather permitting - with the decision made early that morning (if not it "goes" the next day). Regatta Day is probably the only Municipal Holiday in Canada that is dependent on the weather. If it is raining or too windy, the holiday is simply put off until the next suitable day.

The day is a civic holiday for the entire St. John's area and is a full day of Fixed Seat Rowing Races. Our Fixed seat rowing shells are unique - being six person + coxswain and our races start and finish at the same spot - requiring all the crews to "turn the buoys" at the halfway point of the race. A crew can be 6 men or 6 women + coxswain and range in age from 13 to senior citizens.

The shores of beautiful Quidi Vidi Lake are totally encircled by booths and concessions offering all manner of fun, food and games of chance or games of skill. Throughout the day the crowds can reach as high as 30-40 thousand people as the citizens of St. John's and visitors enjoy a "Day at the Races"

NEWFOUNDLAND AND LABRADOR FOLK FESTIVAL

August 6, 7, 8 2009

The good times in St. John's keep roaring in August with the annual Provincial Folk Festival held in Bannerman Park featuring musicians, dancers and storytellers from around the province. It is a perfect opportunity to get a taste of the traditional Newfoundland lifestyle with music, dancing, storytelling and traditional good times. You can even join the fun at the Homemade Jam tent for an old-fashioned session - all sweetness and no calories. Bring an instrument, your own voice or even your kitchen spoons. Everyone is welcome to participate in the spirit of folk arts. In days gone by you would see this in every kitchen and at every parish hall in St. John's.

BUSKER'S FESTIVAL www.downtownstjohns.com

August 6, 7, 8 2009

Every year clowns, magicians and musical talent come out into the streets to perform. The festival hosts a number of great acts all around the downtown area. International, national and local performers put on a show like no other. Juggling, acrobatics, magic, comedy and so much more await you at various busking stages throughout downtown. You as an audience member decide how much to pay a performer based on the act.

ATTRACTIONS
Beaches	There are beaches throughout the Province, but the water is cold, so you may want to enjoy the walks and the beachcombing more than the swimming! Here are two suggestions: Bellevue park and beach in Trinity Bay - a quiet, shallow inner pool where toddlers can splash around drains off through the main beach on

Wildlife	Moose are everywhere and number 110,000 on Newfoundland. Puffins: about 95% of all North America's puffins breed in colonies around the Newfoundland and Labrador coasts and they are the provincial bird. The Pitcher plant is the provincial flower. Whale watching: 32 species of whales; humpbacks are usually spotted April to October Bird-watching doesn't get much more interesting or exotic than in Newfoundland and Labrador. Seabirds typically attract the most attention, and eastern Newfoundland and the Avalon Peninsula are especially rich in bird life. Just south of St. John's is the Witless Bay Ecological Reserve, where several islands host the largest colony of breeding puffins and kittiwakes in the western Atlantic. On the southern Avalon Peninsula, Cape St. Mary's features a remarkable sea stack just yards from easily accessible cliffs that's home to a cacophonous colony of northern gannets.
Parks	Pippy Park is on St. John's hilly western side adjacent to the university and contains 1,340 hectares of developed recreation land and quiet trails. You should definitely visit if you're coming with kids. This popular park is home to the city campground and The Fluvarium , as well as miniature golf and regulation-size golf courses, picnic sites, playgrounds, hiking trails, and more The National Parks of Newfoundland and Labrador now number three: Gros Morne National Park Terra Nova National Park Plus the newest National Park in Canada: Torngut Mountains in Labrador
Gardens	Memorial University Botanical Garden in St John's is a great place to learn about the province's flora. North America's most eastern botanical garden showcases 110 acres of specialized species, a premier rock garden, and a nature reserve.
Historic Sites	Signal Hill, St. John's: You'll come for the history, but stay for the views. Signal Hill is St. John's most visible and visit-worthy attraction. This rugged, barren hill is the city's preeminent landmark, rising up above the entrance to the harbor and topped with a craggy "castle" complete with flag fluttering overhead - the "signal" referred to in the name. The layers of history here are rich and complex: flags have flown

	atop this hill since 1704, and over the centuries a succession of military fortifications have occupied these strategic slopes, as did three different hospitals. The castle-like structure (which is officially called Cabot Tower) dates from 1897, when it was built in honor of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee and the 400th anniversary of John Cabot's arrival in the new world. The hill secured its spot in history in 1901, when Nobel laureate Guglielmo Marconi received the first wireless transatlantic broadcast - three short dots indicating the letter S in Morse code, sent from Cornwall, England - on an antenna raised 120m on a kite in powerful winds. A good place to start a tour is in the interpretive center, where you'll get a briefing about the hill's history. (Military drills and cannon firings still sometimes take place in the field next to the centre; check here if you're interested.) From the centre, you can follow serpentine trails up the hill to the tower, where you'll be rewarded with breathtaking views of the Narrows and the open ocean beyond - Cape Spear can even be seen in the distance to the south, and look for icebergs in the early summer and whales anytime. Interpretive placards, scattered about the summit, feature photos from various epochs. Quidi Vidi Battery is a Provincial Historic Site in St John's built in 1762 by the French and now populated by costumed guides. There are a number of lighthouses and Cape Spear, Newfoundland's oldest lighthouse, is only 11km from St John's

OTHER ACTIVITIES
Shopping	Newfoundland and Labrador's provincial mineral emblem is Labradorite. One of the most beautiful and popular of the "semi-precious" stones, labradorite is found at a number of locations on the coast of Labrador and on the Island of Newfoundland. It is an igneous iridescent crystalline mineral, and set in silver it makes a unique jewellery souvenir of the province. Devon House Craft Centre: The nonprofit Devon House (operated by the Craft Council of Newfoundland & Labrador) displays the works of more than 150 of the province's artisans in an attractive old house across from the Hotel Newfoundland; the shop specializes in works in clay. There's also a gallery of current crafts and design.
Market	St. John's Farmers' Market runs weekly on Saturdays from June until the end of November featuring locally made arts/crafts, baked goods, international food, and local produce
Nightlife	The nightlife in St. John's is extraordinarily vibrant, and you'd be doing yourself an injustice if you didn't spend at least one evening on a pub-crawl. The first stop for a little local music and cordial imbibing should be

	George Street, which runs for several blocks near New Gower and Water streets, close to City Hall. Every St. John's resident confidently asserts that George Street is home to more bars per square foot than anywhere else on the planet. I have been unable to track down a global authority that verifies pubs-per-square-foot, but a walk down the street did little to rebut their claims. George Street is packed with energetic pubs and lounges, some fueled by beer, others by testosterone, still more by lively Celtic fiddling. The best strategy for selecting a pub is a slow ramble around 10pm or later, vectoring in to spots with appealing music wafting from the door. At places with live music, cover charges are universally very nominal and rarely top C$5. Trapper John's, 2 George St. (tel. 709/579-9630), is known for outstanding provincial folk music, but it tries a bit harder for that Ye Olde Newfoundland character. This is a traditional "screeching in" spot for visitors (this involves cheap Newfoundland rum and some embarrassment). For blues and traditional music, there's the lively Fat Cat Blues Bar, 5 George St. (tel. 709/739-5554). For a more upscale spot with lower decibel levels, try Christian's Bar, 23 George St. (tel. 709/753-9100), which offers the nonalcoholic option of specialty coffees.

CUISINE
Food	Some local specialties you should try when in St. John's: Seal- flipper pie; fish'n'brewis with scrunchions; lobster; arctic char; cod tongues; caribou; mushrooms; partridgeberries
Drink	The Quidi Vidi Brewery, a micro brewery, is located in a restored building on the harbor at Quidi Vidi and is one of only two microbreweries in Newfoundland. They produce the typical Canadian light lagers as well as some not-so-typical Canadian brews. The 1892 Traditional Ale, with a noticeably hoppiness to it, is a particularly favoured brew. The Story of Screech Long before any liquor board was created, the Jamaican rum that was eventually to be known as Screech was a mainstay of the Newfoundland diet. Salt fish was shipped to the West Indies in exchange for rum; the fish became the national dish of Jamaicans and the rum became the traditional drink of Newfoundlanders. Not being overly concerned with alcohol content, the early fishermen tended to drink the rum at incredibly high strength with no attempt made to temper the taste. When the Canadian government took control of the alcohol trade in the early 20th century, they put the rum in a

	sophisticated, unlabelled bottle and fortunately did not alter the rum itself. This delightful product may have continued indefinitely as a nameless rum except for the influx of American servicemen to Newfoundland during World War II. As the story goes, the commanding officer of the first detachment was taking advantage of Newfoundland hospitality for the first time and was offered a drop of rum as an after dinner drink. Seeing his host toss back the liquor with nary a quiver, the unsuspecting American adhered to local custom and downed the drink in one gulp. The look of shock and the glorious shades of color on the American's face were overshadowed by the bloodcurdling howl made by the poor fellow as he managed to regain his breath. Sympathetic persons from miles around rushed to the house to assist the poor man in such obvious agony and of course to satisfy their curiosity as to what was going on. Among the first to arrive was a garrulous old American sergeant who pounded on the door and demanded "What the cripes was that ungodly screech?" The taciturn Newfoundlander who had answered the door replied simply, "The screech?" 'Tis the rum, me son." Thus was born a legend. As word of the incident was passed around, the soldiers determined to try this mysterious "screech" and finding its effects as devastating as the name implies, adopted it as their favorite. The liquor board immediately pounced on the name and reputation and began labeling Famous Newfoundland Screech. Over the years, the alcohol content of Screech has been toned down and the flavor mellowed, so that in 2003, Screech Rum won a gold medal for excellent taste at the International Rum Festival. Today, Screech remains a Newfoundland favorite.
Restaurants	Here in Newfoundland and Labrador, the traditional dishes and recipes still flourish alongside a spectrum of modern delights derived from local and international influences. Today, anyone can easily indulge in traditional and modern Newfoundland and Labrador cuisine such as cod, scrunchions, and bakeapple cheesecake, as well as vegetarian, Indian, Chinese, Japanese, Mongolian, Mediterranean, and Italian food. The Cellar: At 189 Water Street in St. John's, it's as intimate and warm (though never as stuffy) as a fine gentleman's club. The kitchen has been turning out fine meals for a while now, developing a local following for its creativity and consistency. Look for standbys like gravlax, homemade bread, and pastas. Fish is prepared especially well; cuts are often paired with innovative flavors such as ginger or pear. Lunches are an even better bargain: Past menus have featured such tasty and offbeat offerings as baked brie in phyllo with a red-currant chutney, and scallop crepes.

	A good recommendation for a local pub is Bridie Molloy's Guinness Pub and Restaurant which has regular live Irish/Newfoundland music and good food, plus a wide selection of draught beer. They are on the east end of George Street. They have friendly staff and a warm atmosphere

History	More than 80 years ago, Antonio Mantegazza bought a rowboat to transport commercial goods across Lake Lugano in Switzerland. Who would have known that rowboat would launch the world's leading guided travel company? Antonio's frequent trips across the scenic lake led him to consider opportunities in a different market: tourism. His entrepreneurial instinct pushed him to gradually acquire some motor coaches to transport tourists around the Lake Lugano area. In 1928, Antonio opened a company specializing in motor coach touring called Globus Viaggi. The company began with a fleet of 12 coaches which operated local excursions for European tourists in Switzerland. By 1950, Globus Viaggi had grown to a fleet of 33 coaches and featured overnight excursions to Rome, Venice, the Dolomites and the French Riviera. For 80 years, the Globus family of brands has been providing a variety of products that address the needs of today's diverse traveler.
